“ Highlighting

Quickly mark sections of text important to you and share your highlights with colleagues! Highlighting makes cooperative learning simple - just select and share.

With Highlights you can:

- ▶ Ask questions - from developers on your team or more broadly to a group of people.
- ▶ Share your highlights with your social network in a single click.

Rule No. 1:
There Are No Facts Inside Your Building, So Get Outside.

On Day One, the startup is a faith-based enterprise built on its founders' vision and a notable absence of facts. The founders' job is to translate this vision and these hypotheses into facts. Facts live outside the building, where future customers (prospects, really) live and work, so that's where you need

Highlight

The founders' job is to translate this vision and these hypotheses into facts.
